WANTED 5 YOUNG MEN from Clatsop county at once to prepare for Positions in the Government Service. Apply to Inter State Correspondence Institute, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Harry Meyer, a well-known resident of this city, died yesterday at St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, after a lingering illness with consumption. Deceased was about 45 years of age and unmarried. The body will be brought to Astoria this morning and interred this afternoon in Greenwood.

The council committee named to prepare an ordinance governing the speed of railway trains will submit its report at tomorrow night's meeting of the city fathers. It is probable the new measure will limit the speed to eight miles in that part of the city where improved streets cross the railroad track.

It is not quite probable that there will be no radical change in weather conditions. Yesterday a heavy fog came up at the mouth of the river, and the wind shifted from the north-west to the south during the afternoon. The barometer took an upward shoot, however, and there is little likelihood of rain in the near future.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held Monday night. The street committee will offer an ordinance providing for the improvement of Commercial street from Sixth to Third, and will also submit measures providing for the levying of assessments to pay for the cost of repaving Fifteenth street and Astor street.

The joint manufacturers committee has decided to hold an excursion for the purpose of raising the amount necessary to defray the cost of building the railroad spur at Smith Point. The spur cost more than was at first expected and the committee needs an additional $900. Arrangements have been made for a train and it is expected the excursion will be the best attended affair of the kind ever held here. The date will be announced later.

Fish Warden Van Dusen left last night for the McKenzie, where he will view the progress of the hatchery work. He is in receipt of a note from Superintendent Talbot, in which that official says fish have made their appearance in the McKenzie. Mr. Van Dusen is anxious to see if the site will prove a good one. This year's hatchery output should be a good one, as eleven stations are being utilized, of which five are in the Columbia district and six along the coast.

The property owners interested in the matter have determined to make temporary repairs to the recently condemned road leading to the Point, and yesterday Judge Taylor shipped Taylor shipped between 5000 and 6000 feet of lumber there. The planing will be done by the people living at the Point, who will commence work today. It is believed sufficient repairs can be made for a small sum and the road placed in a safe condition until such time as a street is built around the Point.

A few days ago two residents of Columbia county became involved in an altercation, during which clubs were freely used. The death of one of the men ensued a few days later and the people there came to the conclusion that his death was due to the clubbing he had received. The authorities at St. Helens acquainted District Attorney Allen with a brief statement of the facts, and Mr. Allen instructed the coroner to hold an autopsy. The examination disclosed the fact that death resulted from pneumonia, which is not brought on by the use of a club, so Mr. Allen wired yesterday that the case should go before the justice of the peace at St. Helens and the responsibility of the surviving fighter be settled by that court.

The run of fish yesterday, although not quite up to that of previous days of the week, was very good, and the packing houses were kept busy all day. Some of the fishermen came in with fine catches. The fish now being taken are excellent for canning, but not so good for pickling, and for this reason the packers' cold storage has suspended operations for the time being. The fish now in the river are soft and absorb the pickle in which they are preserved for shipment. The salmon are the last of the June run, and it is believed a July run of fish will soon be in the river. The expected new run will doubtless be sold enough for pickling, but unless good stock can be secured the packers' cold storage will not be operated again this year. Up to the present time the fishing season has been a successful one from the viewpoint of the gillnet fishermen, and many of them have already turned in at their canneries in excess of 10 tons. One fisherman is said to have taken 14 tons of fish. If the supply holds out the pack will be

According to the Columbia River and Oregon Timberman, Westport, Or., is one of the early milling sites on the Columbia river. John West built the first mill in 1899. It was driven by water power and had a capacity of about 10,000 feet daily. The machinery consisted of a Mulsy rig to open up the logs and on the pony side a circular saw worked up the canals. The principal stock was 12x, 16, 24 and 32 feet long for fencing purposes in California. This lumber brought $30 per thousand at the mill. Dressed lumber brought $40. John West was a native of Scotland. He left Quebec, Canada, for San Francisco in 1849, arriving in 1850, after a nine-months' trip.

There is little change to report in the proposal for the construction of the Hume mill, although the prospects for securing this enterprise are better than on Friday. A compromise proposition has been figured out and will be submitted to the three owners of the three tracts at the Tongue. The belief was expressed last evening that the negotiations would come to a successful termination and Mr. Hume will unquestionably give the attorneys a few more days to straighten out the squabble. Yesterday all the interested parties were hard at work, and there appears to be a general disposition to compromise.

The regatta finance committee will begin its canvass tomorrow, and on the receipt with which it meets will depend whether or not the carnival will be held. Hundreds of Astorians are daily urging the holding of the regatta, but much difficulty is experienced in getting men to attend to the necessary details. Much hard work is required to make the regatta a success, but it comes at that time of the year when the merchants are very busy. So far as finances are concerned, it is probable there will be no trouble, as many offers of financial assistance have already been made. If the finance committee should meet with ready responses from the merchants, the regatta will probably be held. If, on the other hand, there is any lack of enthusiasm, the committee will give up the effort to perpetuate the carnival. The matter rests entirely with the merchants.

Chief of Police Hallock yesterday received a letter from Mrs. W. F. Wood, of Springfield, Mr., asking him to use his influence with Henry Wahatiltto to permit the writer to keep the girl baby of Mrs. Wahatiltto, whom she has cared for since the mother lost her reason near the Missouri city. Mrs. Wahatiltto was on her way to Astoria, it will be recalled, and during a fit of insanity deserted her children on the train. Mrs. Wood took one of the girls and has since cared for it. She inclosed a copy of a letter from Mrs. M. M. Hunter, matron of the Union depot at St. Louis, in which Wahatiltto was quoted as saying Mrs. Wood would be given permanent custody of the girl if his wife showed no mental improvement. The matron expressed the belief that the mother would never regain her reason. According to the matron's letter, Wahatiltto has left St. Louis for Astoria, departing on July 8. He has not yet arrived and until he does so the chief will be unable to deliver Mrs. Wood's message.
